Nurturing Graduates on Industry Readiness

A virtual power seminar themed "Nurturing Graduates on Industry Readiness" was organised by IQAC, Lumding College in association with ICT Academy, supported by SkyCampus on 12th February, 2022. About 84 students registered and took part in the seminar. Some of them joined via Google meet link provided, while others gathered in the college conference hall and the complete session was projected on screen. The program started at 3.30 p.m. with an inaugural speech by Dr. Mrinal K. Paul, Principal, Lumding College in which he welcomed the resource persons and the participants to the program. He also talked about the relevance of the topic in present days as many students are still unaware of the skills required in industries. Next speaker was Mr. Pranjal K. Phukan, Director, International Council for Technology, Management Engineering Inc., who encouraged the students for innovative thinking in order to get absorbed by industries. It was, then, Mr. Dharmender Khanna, Head, SSIPL Retail Limited, who enlightened the students with his speech on communication skills and personality development. According to him, students should identify the skills required in the industries of their choice and should work on them meticulously. At last, Kamlesh Singh, State Head, ICT Academy, thanked Lumding College for their initiative to organize such power seminars and promised to work together in future endeavours.
