

NATIONAL SEMINAR ON HUMAN TRAFFICKING

A national seminar focusing on the critical issue of Human Trafficking took place on 14th and 15th October, 2022, at Lumding College under the sponsorship of Maulana Abul Kalam Azad Institute of Asian Studies. The event was meticulously organized by the Department of Bengali in collaboration with the Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) of Lumding College.

The proceedings commenced at 10 am with participant registration followed by a hearty breakfast. The esteemed keynote speaker, Professor Amalendu Chakraborty, Vice-Chancellor of Rabindranath Tagore University, Hojai, graced the occasion. His arrival was marked by a warm welcome from the NCC platoon, setting a solemn tone for the event. The ceremonial lamp was then lit, symbolizing enlightenment and auspicious beginnings. Sarbari Debnath, from the Department of Bengali, delivered the inaugural speech, shedding light on the gravity of the issue at hand. Dr. Mrinal Kanti Paul, the Principal of Lumding College, and Dr. Jahnnabi Das, the seminar coordinator, further enriched the gathering with their insights and perspectives on combating human trafficking. Professor Amalendu Chakraborty's keynote address encapsulated the complexities of human trafficking, delving into its socio-economic implications and the imperative for collective action. His profound discourse set the stage for the plenary session that ensued.

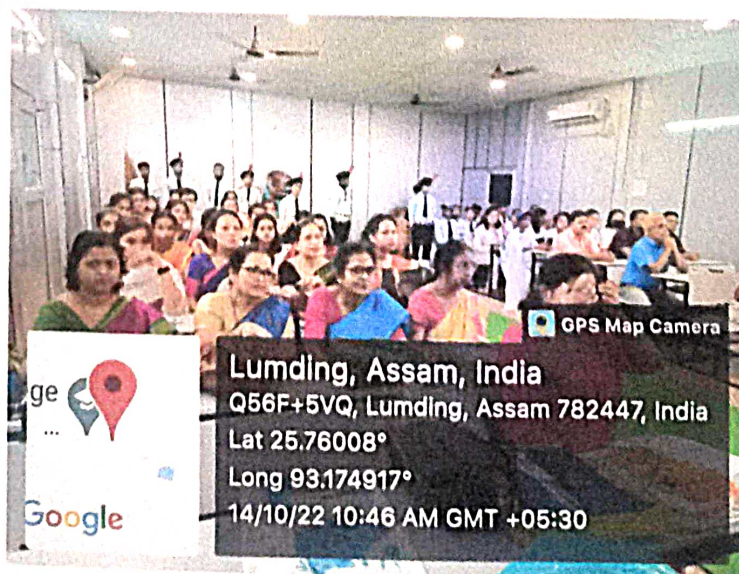

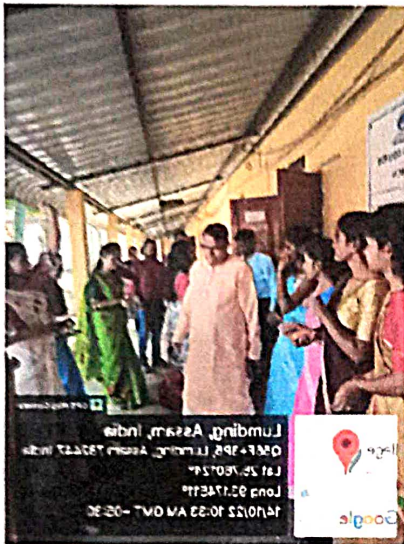

Distinguished resource persons, including Dr. Sanjay Bhattacharjee, Associate Professor from Gauhati University, Dr. Sandip Ratna, Associate Professor from SCTE Kohima, and Dr. Kashinath Chakraborty, Assistant Professor from Sankardev College, Shillong, Meghalaya, graced the plenary session with their expertise. Their scholarly contributions provided attendees with invaluable insights into various dimensions of human trafficking, ranging from its root causes to potential solutions. Over the course of 2 days, a total of 59 participants presented their papers enriching the discourse on combating human trafficking.

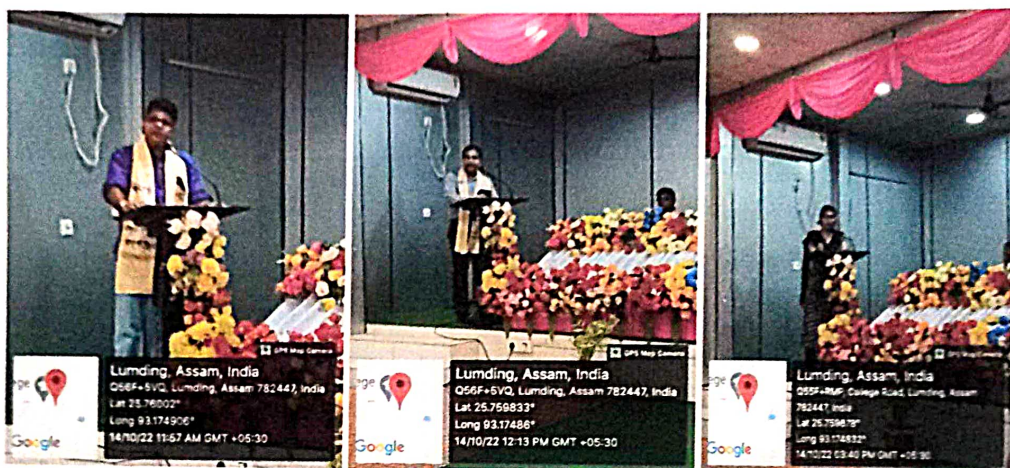

On 15th October, the seminar concluded with a ceremony where certificates of participation were conferred upon the paper presenters. Anjan Paul, from the Department of Bengali, delivered a gracious vote of thanks, expressing gratitude to all participants, speakers, and organizers for their dedication and contributions towards raising awareness and fostering dialogue on the pressing issue of human trafficking.

The national seminar on human trafficking at Lumding College served as a significant platform for knowledge exchange, collaboration, and advocacy, reaffirming the commitment of academia and society to combat this egregious violation of human rights.
