

Road Safety Awareness Programme at Lumding College - A Step Towards Safer Roads

On December 27, 2022, NSS & Extension Activity Cell and IQAC (Internal Quality Assurance Cell), Lumding College took a significant step towards promoting road safety by organizing a comprehensive "Road Safety Awareness Programme" in association with the Road Safety Committee, Hojai. The event aimed to instill a sense of responsibility and adherence to traffic rules among the college community and the wider public. The event witnessed the presence of esteemed guests who added value to the program with their insights and expertise. Among them were Dr. Biman Acharjee, Head, Department of Physics, Lumding College; Gautam Lodh, Associate Professor, Department of Chemistry, Lumding College; Parasu Upadhaya, Head, Department of History, Lumding College and Sri Chandan Jyoti Bora, Officer-in-Charge (OC) of Lumding Police Station. Sri Bora, OC, Lumding Police Station, took the stage to address the audience, emphasizing the critical importance of road safety. He highlighted the rising incidents of road accidents and stressed the need for collective efforts to curb this alarming trend. Sri Bora eloquently articulated the necessity of following traffic rules, emphasizing their role in ensuring the safety of both pedestrians and motorists. Continuing his discourse, Sri Bora delved into the specifics of traffic rules and regulations. He elucidated how adherence to these rules not only prevents accidents but also contributes to the smooth flow of traffic. His insights served as a reminder that responsible behavior on the road is a shared responsibility that each individual must uphold.

To further drive home the importance of road safety, NSS volunteers organized and performed a compelling street drama. The performance creatively depicted common scenarios on the road, highlighting the potential consequences of negligence and the positive impact of adhering to safety guidelines. The street drama effectively engaged the audience, conveying the message in an impactful and memorable manner.

The seamless coordination and execution of the program were under the capable guidance of Anjan Paul, Programme Officer, NSS & Extension Activity Cell. Mr. Paul, who also serves as an Assistant Professor in the Department of Bengali at Lumding College. The Road Safety Awareness Programme at Lumding College marked a significant stride in fostering a culture of responsible road behavior. The collaborative effort of the college, NSS

& Extension Activity Cell, IQAC, and the Road Safety Committee, Hojai, underscored the commitment to creating safer roads for the community.
